Amanda Rosendale is the 2010 CSIFT-Sponsored Jonathan Baldwin Turner Scholarship Recipient

Amanda Rosendale, a University of Illinois freshman majoring in Food Science and Human Nutrition, is the 2010 recipient of the CSIFT-sponsored Jonathan Baldwin Turner (JBT) Scholarship.

The JBT Scholarships are funded by private donations, and administered through the University of Illinois, College of ACES (Agricultural, Consumer and Environmental Sciences), to outstanding incoming freshman with anticipated majors within ACES. Amanda is one of thirty-five 2010 awardees.

The recipients were formally introduced at a Recognition Banquet held at the University of Illinois on December 3. Mike Wanous, co-chair of the Scholarship Committee with John Budin, represented CSIFT at the event to present Amanda with her award.

Just finishing her first semester, Amanda has enjoyed her introduction to the major, and has taken a special interest in human nutrition. She would like to someday develop low-cost, highly-nutritional food products for those individuals challenged with lack of food availability.

Amanda grew up on a family farm in Augusta, Illinois, and distinguished herself academically, in a wide range of extracurricular activities and in her community. She and her parents, Burdette and Lisa Rosendale, gratefully thank the CSIFT for sponsoring her scholarship.
