Welcome to the Chicago Section IFT
Suppliers’ Symposium & Expo

Thursday, November 1, 2018
Donald E. Stephens Convention Center
Symposium— 9:00AM– 12:30PM
Expo— 12:00-5:30PM
Social Hour/Networking — 5:30-6:30PM

Chicago Section IFT Symposium: Transparency in the Food Industry

9:00-10:00 AM Consumer Panel— Transparency: It’s a Big Food Dilemma

This session presents an engaging overview of the Big Food Dilemma facing consumers and suppliers alike. It examines research showing how transparency throughout the food supply chain builds consumer trust. A panel representing the farm/commodity level, food processing and a national consumer brand discuss their perspectives on transparency.

They’ll talk about what they’ve done to become more transparent to their customers. Attendees will gain insight into their own untapped brand assets they can use to be more transparent and differentiate their products in the marketplace.

Track #1: Transparency & Nutrition

10:10-10:55 AM— New Product Development at the Intersection of Clean Label, Plant Based Combinations, and Nutrition

Dr. Rachel Cheatham, Founder & CEO of Foodscape Group, LLC

11:00-11:45 AM— Who are Clean Label Consumers, and What are Their Perceptions on Flavor Ingredients?

Karen Graves, Sensory Director at Bell Flavors & Fragrances.

Track #2: Transparency in the Supply Chain

10:10-10:55 AM— 5 Keys to Supply Chain Management

Elise Forward, President & Principal Consultant at Forward Food Solutions

11:00-11:45 AM— GMO Risk Mitigation: Surveillance Techniques for a New Regulatory Environment

Todd E. Napolitano, Program Manager—GMO Services, Mérieux NutriSciences

11:45 AM-12:30 PM— Transparency in Food Quality and in the Search for Transparency in Foods & Health

Dennis Gordon, North Dakota State University

Transparency in Food Quality and the Search for Transparency in Foods for Health. Foods nourish and Food Scientists/Engineers provide foods that fill supermarkets, shopping carts, and the lives of people and families. While all foods nourish, collectively these professionals strive to provide quality foods of good taste-texture, safety, convenience, and at reasonable cost. Supplier's Night is to provide knowledge, availability and thus transparency to the food processor on ingredients used to provide foods of quality. Examples will be cited. However, today’s consumer now wants food that promote health. It is the space between all foods that nourish and their claimed properties to promote health that require further transparency and examples will be cited.

Chicago Section
Institute of Food Technologists

November 1, 2018

Dear Attendees, Exhibitors and Guests,

On behalf of all of us here at Chicago Section IFT let me welcome you to Chicago and the 2018 Chicago Section IFT Suppliers’ Symposium and Expo - The nation’s largest regional food technology event!

We are pleased to celebrate our 56th Suppliers’ Expo since the inception of the Chicago Section. From just eleven exhibitors at our first event to around 580 exhibitors and 3,000+ attendees tonight, the CSIFT Suppliers’ Expo has grown to become a “must do” event on the calendar of the U.S. food industry. We are pleased you could join us here today.

For 2018 the symposium focus is “Transparency:”

9:00AM – Panel Discussion – “Transparency: It’s A Big Food Dilemma”

Join host Matt Hamrin with panelists Kelly Braaten, Virginia Hendricks and Amy Roady- An overview of the Big Food Dilemma facing consumers and suppliers and research on transparency and consumer trust will be examined.

Track #1: – “Transparency & Nutrition”

10:10AM – New Product Development-Intersection of Clean Label, Plant Based & Nutrition

Presented by Dr. Rachel Cheatham- While clean label may or may not mean improved health and nutrition, this intersection is rapidly growing and evolving in the dairy and meat alternatives categories.

11:00AM – Who Are Clean Label Consumers/Perceptions on Flavor Ingredients

Presented by Karen Graves- Clean label food is a growing trend food manufacturers would like to capitalize on. Learn about this consumer segment and the definition of a clean ingredient. Study findings and results will be discussed.

Track #2 – “Transparency in the Supply Chain & Regulatory Compliance”

10:10AM – Five Keys to Supply Chain Management

Presented by Elise Forward- This presentation highlights the top five things to add to supply chain document lists that will give a company the best “bang for their buck” when evaluating a supplier.

11:00AM – GMO Risk Mitigation: Surveillance Techniques For A New Regulatory Environment

Presented by Todd E. Napolitano- Technology and audit programs can shine a light on your supply chain and processes, providing you with invaluable data-driven, analytical tools to verify your claims.

11:45AM – Keynote Presentation: “Transparency in Food Quality/Search For Transparency in Foods For Health”

Presented by Dr. Dennis T. Gordon- It is the space between all foods that nourish and their claimed properties to promote health that require further transparency. Examples will be cited.

The Expo will begin promptly at Noon and run to 5:30PM. Once again we have about 580 exhibitors here this evening offering you the latest in leading food ingredients, processing technologies, laboratory equipment and other products and services.

The Suppliers’ Symposium and Expo will conclude with our Social Hour from 5:30 to 6:30PM. Please take a moment to gather with us in the registration area to socialize with peers, enjoy refreshments and bring the Suppliers’ Expo to a close.

Now, go enjoy the day!

Sincerely,

James N. Anderson

The Real Blueberries™ Seal

Real Blueberries + Great Products = Happy Customers!

Got real blueberries in your product? Tell consumers with the Real Blueberries™ Seal. The 2,437 highbush blueberry growers in 32 states invite you to join Team Blueberry! Qualifying is simple. There is no cost. It's a great way to benefit from the popularity of real blueberries.

Big-time Blueberry Demand.

Since the 1990s when news about the health benefits of blueberries first gained momentum, US per-capita use of fresh and frozen blueberries in the USA has increased more than 500%. Consumers crave fresh and frozen blueberries all year round. A typical comment, "I have blueberries daily to get my antioxidants!" Make sure customers know they are getting products with lots of real blueberries inside.

Blueberries Everywhere!

Hundreds of new blueberry-containing products are launched each year – 925 in 2016. These include: baking, confectionery, dairy, snacks, pet foods, natural cosmetics and others. Blueberries: fresh, frozen, dried, liquid, purée, powder.. contribute to product popularity on the supermarket shelf. Most products contain adequate or optimal amounts of real blueberries. The Real Blueberries™ Seal tells customers – this is the real deal!

Interested?

- Take a photo of your blueberry product and ingredient statement for our team to review. Send to realblueberries@blueberrytech.org.
- If the product is approved, we will send you a simple agreement. If not, we can provide tips on how to optimize blueberry content.
- Once accepted, we will send the seal artwork ready to include on your package.
- You are now part of Team Blueberry!

US Highbush Blueberry Council

Create safer food,
naturally

Appearance and labeling are the first indications consumers have about a product's freshness, quality and safety. Producers must ensure freshness and safety are maintained from farm to fork, delivering products minimally processed with no artificial ingredients.

Label-friendly vs. convenience
Our Verdad® product line offers natural clean-label ingredients with a savory flavor profile. These are versatile ingredients, maintaining the product quality during shelf life by influencing flavor and offering protection against common microbial issues, including yeast and spoilage bacteria.
